ABOUT THE COMPANY

First Continental Mortgage, Ltd.

First Continental Mortgage, Ltd. (FCM) is a builder-focused mortgage lender operating through 12 joint venture partnerships across the United States. Specializing exclusively in new construction lending, FCM manages complex verification workflows across multiple entities and platforms, funding nearly 7,000 loans per year.

Based in Houston, Texas, FCM has built its reputation on delivering specialized mortgage solutions for the builder market. Each joint venture partnership requires coordinated operations, making consistency and efficiency across entities critical to FCM's success.

The $2M verification problem.

Before partnering with Truv, FCM was spending approximately $2 million annually on a legacy VOIE vendor, with additional verification costs scattered across multiple third-party providers. The high cost of legacy verification services—combined with fragmented vendor relationships, poor support, and complex multi-entity rollout requirements—created significant drag on FCM's ability to scale efficiently.

FCM needed a partner that could deliver cost savings, tailored support, and flexible integration across their existing platforms: nCino point-of-sale and Encompass loan origination system.

THE CHALLENGE

$2M in Annual Verification Costs & Fragmented Vendor Ecosystem

As a builder-focused lender managing 12 joint venture businesses, FCM faced unique verification challenges that required a coordinated, scalable solution. Excessive costs, poor vendor support, and complex multi-entity rollout requirements demanded a new approach.

Excessive verification costs

FCM was spending $2M annually on legacy VOIE vendor with costs compounded by their to-be-built loan model requiring multiple re-verifications over 6–9 month construction periods

Poor vendor support

Previously used vendors provided little to no customer support, creating bottlenecks when processors needed assistance and extending loan milestones unnecessarily

Fragmented vendor ecosystem

Processors had access to multiple verification providers leading to inconsistent processes, duplicate costs, and an inefficient borrower experience

Complex multi-entity rollout

With 12 separate joint ventures, implementing company-wide solutions required strategic change management and phased deployment

Dual-platform integration need

FCM needed verification embedded into both nCino (POS) and Encompass (LOS) without disrupting existing workflows

> Our processors love that we can get ahold of someone at Truv within 4 hours. Compare that to other vendors, where our team couldn't reach a human for 2 years - it's night and day. Having responsive support and service makes us more efficient in actually solving problems instead of just working around them.

THE SOLUTION

Dual-Platform VOIE & VOA Across nCino & Encompass

Truv worked closely with FCM's operations team to implement a phased rollout strategy that prioritized both quick wins and long-term adoption across all 12 joint venture entities.

POINT OF SALE

nCino Integration

Truv deployed VOIE and VOA solutions in nCino, positioning Truv as the first line of defense in the verification waterfall during the loan application process. Borrowers complete verifications seamlessly within the application flow.

LOAN ORIGINATION

Encompass Integration

Truv streamlined pre-closing verifications in the LOS with cross-platform automation, eliminating manual re-verification orders and reducing processor workload during the critical closing phase.

BEFORE		TRUV BRIDGE		RESULT
Multiple vendors, manual process	→	Borrower links payroll & bank accounts	→	Unified VOIE + VOA in nCino & Encompass

By consolidating VOIE and VOA into a single vendor, Truv replaced FCM's fragmented ecosystem of multiple verification providers with one streamlined solution. This eliminated duplicate costs and gave processors a consistent workflow across all 12 joint ventures.

The implementation evolved over several months, with Truv adapting to FCM's feedback and delivering customized solutions for their unique multi-entity structure. Truv mobilized a cross-functional team including sales leadership, customer success, and product/engineering to address concerns head-on.

Truv's hands-on approach minimized initial implementation challenges and paved the clearest path toward company-wide adoption across all joint venture partnerships.
